

IBMC - Instituto de Biologia Molecular e Celular

Master fellowship (f/m)

Internal Code: Norte2020NEURO63

Project: NORTE-01-0145-FEDER-000008 – Porto Neurosciences and Neurologic Disease Research Initiative at i3S

Title: Understanding the role of profilin-1 in neurons.

IBMC/i3S is opening 1 (one) Master Fellowship to join its Research Program in Nerve Regeneration

We are looking for candidates holding a Master degree in Biology or related fields. Certified license to perform animal experimentation (minimum FELASA B level) and a strong interest, understanding and practical knowhow in: (a) primary cultures of neurons, (b) neuron development, differentiation and function; (c) microscopy (epifluorescence and confocal (including laser and spinning disk), are essential requirements. Knowledge of English language, both spoken and written, and good inter-personal qualities in the context of a multidisciplinary research team are also essential attributes.

Group and PI: Nerve regeneration, Monica Sousa.

Work Plan:

The fellow will join the project aimed at understanding the role and function of profilin-1 in axon growth and regeneration. Specific tasks will include: isolation and culture of hippocampal neurons, nucleofection of cultured neurons, assessment of axon growth and its correlation with the dynamic remodeling of the actin and tubulin cytoskeleton; development of models of spinal cord injury including functional and histological analysis.

The work will be developed at Instituto de Investigação e Inovação em Saúde - i3S, Porto, Portugal.

Selection of candidates:

Candidate will be selected according to the curriculum evaluation.

The Fellowship, for 3 months is eventually renewable for equal period, and it is expected to start December 15, 2017.

The fellowship pays 980 euros per month, preferentially paid by bank transfer.
